1994 YEAR-END REPORT

This past year was our best year for book sales. Considering the fact that no new publications were actually completed this year, this was a welcome surprise.

Income for 1994 was as follows:

Memberships	$1,212.00
Book Sales	2,257.50
Research/Copies	165.50
Donations	66.00
Postage & Handling Charges	103.50
Interest	143.95
Total Income	$3,948.45

The society plans several new publications in 1995 as well as a reprint of the 1883 Kankakee County Atlas. See the back of this quarterly for further information. The Otto Township Cemetery Book as well as the Pilot Township Cemetery Book will be completed in 1995 and we're optimistic we'll have Limestone completed and published as well.

This will finally complete all the cemetery books for the county, but an ongoing project will be the rechecking and reissuing of the Northeast and Southeast Section Cemetery Books. Information in these books were listed alphabetically but will be broken down into individual township books listing all grave markers in actual sequence and include a surname index.

Ongoing projects will be the church records, Ancestor Book and school records. We are nearing completion of the 1870 Census and hope to have that completed near the end of 1995. Once completed, this book will be sent to the bindery and sold as a hard bound publication.

As many of you will remember, the society decided that 1994 was the year to finally purchase its own computer and laser printer. Despite spending $2,538.64 for the computer and printer, expenses only exceeded income by approximately $300 in 1994!

Our major expense for 1995 will be the reprint of the 1883 Atlas. Because of the number of atlases we plan to reprint, the pre-publication price is very reasonable at $18.00. I ask all members to help spread the word about this reprint so we can offset a good portion of the cost through pre-publication sales. The 1883 Atlas is one of the best sources for church, military, and county history as well as land records from that time period. No one should miss the opportunity to have one of these books in their collection!

At the January meeting each year we distribute the annual report to our members. If you are unable to attend meetings and would like to receive a copy of this report, please send a S.A.S.E. to the society and we will provide you with a copy.

In the early 1800's many Germans moved to Russia where homesteading was offered. Those same Germans fled to the U.S. for a better life. Here are two addresses that will help with your research. American Historical Soc. of Germans from Russia, 631 D Street, Lincoln NE 68502-119. 402/474-3363. Bessarablen Area (Black Sea Area), Germans from Russia Heritage Society, 1008 E. Soc., Vol. 10 #3, Aug. 1994.*

HELP FINDING MAIDEN NAMES

In the lower left hand corner of most deeds, you will find signatures of two to four witnesses. The first one is always from the husband's side. The next one is always from the wife's side. This is to protect her 1/3 dower right under the law.

Also in the 1800's and before, it was traditional when the daughter got married, as part of her dowry, for the father to either cover the loan or carry the note for his son-in-law. If you know the husband's name but not the wife's maiden name, find out to whom they are making their mortgage payment. About 70% of the time, it will be her father. The Family Tree, News from the El en Payne Odom Genealogy Library, Vol. III, No. 6.

HOMESTEAD RECORDS

There are seven states where homestead records were cross indexed by landowner names. If your ancestor acquired land under the 1862 Homestead Act, or bought it from the government, his application is probably on file. Files include a four page questionnaire filled out by the homesteader listing names of family members and other personal information. Write to Civil Archives & Records Service, GSA, Washington, DC 20409. Give your ancestor's full name and any other pertinent information. GRIVA News & Notes, Oct. 1994.

(Dec. 18) One by one the old settlers are passing away from earth in quickening succession, and during the next ten years the record will be a formidable one. The last of our venerable citizens to lay down the burden of life is John Harrison, aged 75 years, who died last Thursday night at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. S. Enyart, in South Kankakee. He was greatly esteemed for his moral character and in the Second Methodist Church of which he was a member he was looked upon as an example and a guide. His birthplace was Bempton, Yorkshire, England. He married Maris Corner in 1830 and came to America in 1850, locating his home at Wilkesbarre, Pa. In 1856 he came to Kaneer, Kankakee county, and lived in that township on a farm until 1862, three years after the death of his wife. He has been a resident of this place ever since. He leaves four children, viz: Wm. S. Harrison, of Waukeeny, Kan; Samuel Harrison, of Morris, Ill; Mrs. James Dennison and Mrs. Silas Enyart, of this city. The funeral services were conducted in the second M.E. church, Sunday forenoon, by John Dale, who preached an appropriate discourse.

Taken from the Kankakee Gazette, November 13, 1879.

On last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stearman, to celebrate the fifty-second anniversary of their marriage, got a rig and went to Manteno to visit a Mr. McCabe, a blacksmith who learned his trade of Mr. Stearman of Bunkum, Iroquois County. Mr. Stearman is nearly 74 years of age, and Mrs. Stearman is 69.

Three inches of snow fell at Grant on Saturday night, and five inches on Sunday night. There was good sleighing for a couple of days.

Another fire was started by a locomotive spark Oct. 29. The fire ran through a port in of the township of Pembroke like an express train, giving Herm Kenega's hay and hay barns a narrow escape. Thence the flames ran into Mr. Bonvallett's park and vineyard, destroying about $1000 worth of property in the former and $200 worth in the latter. Mr. B. and his son were considerably burned in their fight with the fire. When the fire got to the sand ridges a novel way was used to fight it. The men armed themselves with scoop shovels with which they threw sand on the fire. A scoop shovel full of sand thrown scattering along the edge of the fire line would put out twenty feet of fire.

Taken from the Kankakee Gazette, November 20, 1879.

Frank Mazuzan became so insane of late that it became necessary to take him to the insane asylum. Jas. Smith took him to Kankakee last Tuesday.

Takeo from the Kankakee Gazette, December 4, 1879.

Monday forenoon John Miller's horses ran away, passing over a daughter seventeen years old. The neckyoke hit her on the neck, the end of the tongue struck her chest, the horse stopped on her foot, and the wheel passed over her right arm three inches above the elbow and fractured both bones.

Dr. Wheeler was thrown from his buggy and received a cut upon the forehead and a sprained wrist. The accident was caused by two malicious young men who to prevent Dr. Wheeler from passing through their horses out of the road and drove them against his horse.

Taken from the Kankakee Gazette, December 11, 1879.

Wm. J. Stratton has contracted to sell to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Keeney, all of the southwest quarter and the south half of the northwest quarter of section 17, township 32, range 14, in Yellowhead, that lies east of the C. & E. I. railroad, about 150 acres, possession to be given on March 1st next. Price, $31 an acre.

An association known as the Grant Park Library association was organized last Thursday evening. The officers are as follows: President, M. Seager; vice-president, Nick Smith; secretary, L. C. Streeter; treasurer, D. Pettet; librarian, Dr. G. W. Van Horn. The association has fifty members at present.

The frame of C. C. Campbell's new house is up.

ROCKVILLE - 1879

Taken from the Kankakee Gazette, November 13, 1879.

The average yield of corn is not as large as anticipated. The potato crop is very small. Most of the farmers have to buy potatoes for home use.

Mr. Eugene Shreffler will soon place on the shelves a general stock of merchandise, in his new storehouse at Deselm's Corners. The upper rooms will be occupied by his family.

Benj. Goodwin is now feeding over five hundred head of hogs and he is not a very "hoggish" man either. Last Sunday, while Messrs. Wm. Magruder and Wm. Cooper were walking through the woods near the former's house, they noticed three full-grown coons lying on the limbs of a large tree. The temptation was too great for Mr. M., who is very fond of shooting (not on Sunday, however). He ran to his house and got his gun and brought all of them to the ground.

We are told that the family of Dan Durham is now three instead of two. Number three is a girl. Haven't seen it, but, of course, it is a nice little red haired baby. Dan, we've been there, and you have just as well lay your work aside for the present and content yourself with rocking the cradle and playing solos on the cornet.

"Hatch" Durham has moved into his new "abiding place" which, by the way, is a nice one, and we'll bet a cent it will be kept right inside. A new bridge has been built across Rock creek instead of the old one, south of Deselm.

Charley Durham has a new double buggy. You see Charley wants everything double.

The Sunday school at Grange hall closed the 16th inst., after a session of seven months. The school has been well sustained, averaging some fifty attendants. Mr. S. S. Collins, our much esteemed superintendent, was the recipient of an arm chair as a present from the school and some particular friends outside in token of their appreciation of his faithful and zealous devotion to the Sunday school interests. A vote of thanks was passed to the grangers for the use of the hall free of charge, and to the ladies who have lately purchased an organ, the use of which added much to the interest of the school. A few weeks ago Mr. Smith, the well-known bible agent, left a card for donations to that cause, and the school generously gave about seven dollars. Hope next he will try to make a personal appeal in this neighborhood. On motion of Maj. Williams the school voted to reorganize on the 1st of April, 1880.

ASYLUM NOTES

Taken from the Kankakee Gazette, November 13, 1879

The asylum will be ready for patients week after next. Dr. Dewey starts next week to select the number which the present ward building will accommodate (75) from the various county poor houses in this portion of the State, and also, we believe, from the asylum at Elgin. Only males will be received until the new buildings are completed.

The gas fixtures are now being hung and the carpets put down. Samuel Schneider, of Elgin, has been appointed baker. The trustees met here Tuesday and audited bills to the amount of $8,000.

Taken from the Kankakee Gazette, November 20, 1879.

A visit last Saturday by a Gazette reporter revealed a satisfactory progress in the culminating arrangements for the opening of the institution. The third story of the ward building is ready for occupation. The neat white-clad beds, the white window shades and the well-oiled floors combine to give the apartments a wholesome, cheerful appearance which seemingly cannot fail to have a beneficial influence upon "a mind diseased" any more than they can fail to provide attractive to the visitor whose mental machinery is supposed to be in first-class running order. The two lower stores have only to be arranged, the furniture and fittings being on hand. Frank Leonard is supervising the work of arranging and getting ready for "housekeeping" in this building.

In the main building the work seems less forward, but the furniture is here and much of the carpeting so that it will take but a comparatively short period to get them into position. A parlor in the second story is the only one at present which is completed. The carpet is an elegant brussels with a light ground and a double border. The chandelier is a six-burner, black and gold. The furniture is rep, matching the carpeting, and the whole effect is one of the quiet elegance.

Mr. Schneider is in charge of the bakeshop, and is getting affairs into a well-ordered condition. The immense oven is circular in form, and the soap stone bottom is made to revolve by water power so that every foot of it becomes accessible to the door.

The kitchen arrangements are yet incomplete, though the long range, the warming oven and the soup kettles are in position.

No progress has yet been made in the laundry beyond setting up a couple of immense washing machines.

The foundations of the north wing or ward as well as the two detached wards at either side and back of the big building are progressing. The big coal house is ready for the roof.

In the clerk's office in the main building was seen the diagram of the grounds as they will appear when laid out. The design, prepared by H. W. S. Cleveland, the well-known landscape gardener of Chicago, is simple, but attractive and tasteful. The main entrance to the grounds will be at the northeast corner, at the right of the gas and water works building, though other entrances will be found at the remaining corners of the grounds. The design contemplates no regular arrangement of the premises, but the roadways will ramify through the grounds. The design contemplates no regular arrangement of the premises, but the roadways will ramify through the grounds and around the several buildings in wide graceful sweeps, sentineled here and there at unstudied intervals with groups of the various park trees which can be grown in this latitude. Immediately in front of the main building will be a mound, encircled by a graveled driveway. Among the many kinds of trees which will be set out we note the Scotch, white and Austrian pine, tulip, maple, ash, catalpa, magnolia, acacia, negundo, cut-leaved birch and elm.

where is he?" Swigert was carried to the front in the arms of Long John Wentworth, amid the cheers of the enthusiastic delegates. The roll-call was resumed with difficulty, and the voters of county after county changed their votes in favor of Swigert. It is said that no scene of enthusiasm in any state convention ever surpassed that of the friends of Mr. Swigert on the announcement of the result.

Mr. Swigert served the state most satisfactorily for two terms.

The second man in Kankakee county to be honored with a state office is Honorable Len Small, whose political career has been one of remarkable success. His ability in organization, as shown in local and state politics and his service as state senator, from 1900 to 1904, procured for him, in 1904, his nomination and election as state treasurer on the republican ticket.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Kankakee county was first a part of the third congressional district, composed of the counties of Will, Kendall, Grundy, La Salle, Putnam, Bureau, Livingston, Iroquois, Vermilion, Champaign, McLean, De Witt and Kankakee. At the time, the representatives to congress were as follows: A. B. Filkin, 1851 to 1853; Jesse O. Norton, 1853 to 1857; Owen Lovejoy, 1857 to 1883.

According to the census of 1860, the new apportionment united in the sixth district the counties of La Salle, Grundy, Kendall, Du Page, Will and Kankakee. At the first election, in 1862, Jesse O. Norton, of Joliet, former representative of the old third district was elected, and served one term. In 1864 Mr. Norton was succeeded by B. C. Cook, who was three times re-elected, and who eventually resigned to become solicitor general of the Chicago & Northwestern R. R. Company. Henry Snapp was elected to serve out Mr. Cook's unexpired time.

The new apportionment on the census of 1870 placed Kankakee county with Iroquois, Ford, Livingston, Woodford and Marshall counties in the eighth district. Each county had a candidate in the field at the convention, and after one hundred and eight ballots had been cast Greenbury L. Fort, of Marshall county, was elected, and served three successive terms, until March 4, 1881.

At the election of 1880, Lewis E. Payson, of Pontiac, was the successful candidate, and served very acceptably until 1890.

In 1890, Herman W. Snow, of Iroquois county, v: as elected to congress. Dlr. Snow made a house to house canvass, using the tariff as the issue, and avoiding public debate and demonstration. In 1892, Kankakee county again received republican recognition in the election of the I3onorahle Hamilton K. Wheeler over Herman W. Snow, democrat.

Mr. Wheeler had made himself very popular with his constituents, but the new apportionment became effective before the expiration of his term, and Kankakee county was thrown into the eighteenth district, composed of Vermilion, Edgar, Clark, Iroquois and Kankakee counties. Vermilion county being the home of the Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, he became a candidate and was elected in 1894 and has since very acceptably filled the office of congressman from the eighteenth district and was two terms speaker of the house of representatives.

CHAPTER XIII.

Legislative—John Strunk of Momence, the First Representative—Alonzo K. Mack, the First Senator—State Board of Equalization.
While that portion of Kankakee county north of the river was a part of Will county, it was represented in the state senate by Joel A. Mathewson from 1842 to 1852, and from 1852 to 1856, by Uri Osgood, both of Joliet. In the house, the county was represented from 1848 to 1848 by William E. Little and Micajah J. Stanley, from 1848 to 1850 by John Miller and William E. Little; from 1850 to 1854 by Jesse O. Norton.

Iroquois county, including that part of Kankakee county south of the river, was without a resident state senator from the time of its organization in 1833, to the election of Almon S. Palmer in 1872. While this territory remained a part of Vermilion county, Gordon S. Hubbard, a resident of Bunkum, was elected representative, and served from 1832 to 1834, Iroquois county was taken from Vermilion county in 1833, and the resident representatives from Iroquois county were Isaac Courtright, 1836 to 1838; Louis Roberts, from 1838 to 1840; Isaac Courtright, from 1840 to 1842; and Joseph W. Thomas, from 1852 to 1854.

Upon the organization of Kankakee county in 1853, John Strunk, of Momence, became the first representative, serving from 1854 to 1856. William A. Chatfield, of Momence, succeeded Mr. Strunk, serving from 186 to 1858. Alonzo W. Mack was the next representative. In 1854, Kankakee, Iroquois, Du Page, Kendall and Will counties formed the sixth senatorial district, of which Uri Osgood, of Joliet, was elected state senator. With the exception of Kendall the same counties formed the forty-fifth district, represented in 1854 by D. G. A. Parks, of Joliet, Erastus O. Hills, of Du Page county, and John Strunk, of Momence, the latter being the first man honored with election to the house from Kankakee county.

In the fall of 1856, there was elected to the senate of the twentieth general assembly, D. G. A. Parks, of Joliet, Will county; and to the house, Truman W. Smith, of Will county; Franklin Blades, of Iroquois county, and William A. Chatfield, of Kankakee county. To the twenty-first general assembly, in 1858, were elected D. G. A. Parks, to the senate; and Hiram Norton, of Will county, Alonzo W. Mack, of Kankakee county, and J. M. Hood, to the house. In 1860, the twenty-second general assembly, Kankakee county was honored by the first election to the senate of Alonzo W. Mack, of the city of Kankakee. The members of the house were, Franklin Blades of Iroquois; Samuel Stover of Will, and Frederick H. Mather, of Du Page county.

The re-apportionment of 1861 placed Kankakee county in the eighteenth senatorial and the forty-first representative district. In 1862, Alonzo W. Mack was re-elected state senator, and Chauncey A. Lake was elected to the house. At this time the civil war was in progress, and it is said that the counsel of Mr. Mack was much sought by both the president, Mr. Lincoln, and our war-governor, Richard Yates.

In response to the call for soldiers, Mr. Mack volunteered his services, and assisted in recruiting troops. In August, 1862, he was commissioned colonel of the Seventy-sixth Volunteers Infantry, and served as such until January, 1863, when he resigned from the army to resume his service in the senate. There was at this time, in both house and senate, a growing sentiment against the prosecution of the war, and state and national authorities were anxious as to what action would be taken by the legislature.

In 1866, Alonzo W. Mack was re-elected to the senate for the fourth term, and Daniel S. Parker, editor of the Kankakee Gazette, succeeded Mr. Lake as representative. To the twenty-sixth general assembly, in 1868, were elected Henry Snapp of Joliet, as senator, and James I. V. Perry, clerk of the county from 1853-186; as representative. In 1870, Henry Snapp resigned as senator, and was succeeded by John F. Daggett, of Lockport, Will county.

Under the constitution of 1870, Kankakee and Ford counties were combined in the seventy-ninth representative district, and Judge Warren R. Hickox, of Kankakee, and Calvin H. Frew, of Ford county, were the representatives. This was the twenty-seventh general assembly.

Prior to the election of 1872, the new apportionment has been made, and the experiment of minority representation was to be tried. The counties of Kankakee and Iroquois comprised the Sixteenth senatorial district. Almon S. Palmer, of Iroquois county, was elected senator, while Kankakee county was represented by Thomas S. Sawyer, of Chebanse, and Dr. Erasmus B. Collins and M. J. Sheridan, of Momence, Dr. Collins being the minority representative.

In 1874, Almon S. Parker, having been elected for four years, held over, while Reuben Richardson, of Grant Park, Kankakee county, and George C. Wilson and George W. Parker, of Iroquois county, were sent to the house, Mr. Parker being the minority representative.

In 1876, the Thirtieth general assembly, Thomas P. Bonfield, of Kankakee, was elected to the senate for four years, and Conrad Sec-rest and John A. Koplín, of Iroquois county, and D. C. Taylor, of Kankakee, were elected to the house, Mr. Taylor being the minority representative.

At this time the people of the state of Illinois, already established as a progressive factor in dealing with the insane, determined to
