Declaration of Independence Signers

Have you ever wondered what happened to the 56 men who signed the Declaration of Independence? Five signers were captured by the British as traitors and tortured before they died. Twelve had their homes ransacked and burned. Two lost their sons serving in the Revolutionary Army; another had two sons captured. Nine of the 5 fought and died from wounds or hardships of the Revolutionary War. They signed and they pledged their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor.

What kind of men were they? Twenty-four were lawyers and jurists. Eleven were merchants, nine were farmers and large plantation owners; men of means, well-educated. But they signed the Declaration of Independence knowing full well that the penalty would be death if they were captured.

Carter Braxton of Virginia, a wealthy planter and trader, saw his ships swept from the seas by the British Navy. He sold his home and properties to pay his debts, and died in rags. Thomas McKeam was so hounded by the British that he was forced to move his family almost constantly. He served in the Congress without pay, and his family was kept in hiding. His possessions were taken from him, and poverty was his reward.

Vandals or soldiers looted the properties of Dillery, Hall, Clymer, Walton, Gwinnett, Heyard, Rutledge and Middleton. At the battle of Yorktown, Thomas Nelson Jr. noted that the British General Cornwallis had taken over the Nelson home for his headquarters. He quietly urged General Washington to open fire. The home was destroyed and Nelson died bankrupt.

Francis Lewis had his home and properties destroyed. The enemy jailed his wife and she died within a few months. John Hart was driven from his wife's bedside as she was dying. Their 13 children fled for their lives. His fields and his gristmill were laid to waste. For more than a year, he lived in forests and caves, returning home to find his wife dead and his children vanished. A few weeks later he died from exhaustion and a broken heart.

Norris and Livingston suffered similar fates. Such were the stories and sacrifices of the American Revolution. These were not wild-eyed, rabble-rousing ruffians. They were soft-spoken men of means and education. They had security, but they valued liberty more. Standing tall, straight and unwavering, they pledged: "For the support of this declaration, with firm reliance on the protection of the divine providence, we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

They gave you and me a free and independent America. The history books never told you a lot about what happened in the Revolutionary War. We didn't fight just the British. We were British subjects at that time and we fought our government! Some of us take these liberties so much for granted, but we shouldn't. So, take a few minutes and silently thank those patriots. It's not much to ask for the price they paid. Remember: freedom is never free!

What in the World is a "dit" Name?

Anyone doing French-Canadian family research will at one point or another discover that one or more of their ancestors had dit names and then ask, "Where did dit names come from? When did they begin? Why is it that some families had dit names and others did not?"

Before we even start to discuss dit names, we should make clear what dit names are not - and they are not the following: 1) A dit name is definitely not a nickname. 2) A dit name is positively not an alias. 3) A dit name is assuredly not an a.k.a. (also known as). All three of the above tell you that a dit is not a replacement for an existing name, i.e., used instead of. A dit name, in fact, was an extension to an existing name and became part and parcel of the original basic name.

The custom of having dit names first began amongst the nobles and kings. It was a matter of positive identity. As an example: Guillaume, Duke of Normandie because of his many exploits in military battles and conquests, had the name "Guillaume dit le Conquerant". Then, in 1066, when he invaded and conquered England, the English people had difficulty in pronouncing his French name of Guillaume and they called him "Gillium" but that quickly became "William". His French dit name of Guillaume dit le Conquerant then became "William the Conqueror".

The use of dit names did not come into common usage until the late 1500's. It was at this period in history that dit names became very popular in France. Families of 14, 16 and/or 18 children were not uncommon. Those large families, sedentary in nature, produced enormous numbers of duplications of names. For the authorities it created a problem of proper identification. There were too many people with the same first and last names. Such people as judges, police chiefs, priests and others in authority had to know definitely whom they were dealing with, and this was when dit names came into common usage.

The custom of dit names was extended to the military. In the early 1600's, under the French Regime, any young man entering the service was assigned a "soubriquet" (a dit name). Usually the dit name assigned was taken from an attribute of the man. As an example: Romain Becquet was a huge man; he was given the dit name of LaMontagne (the mountain man). Therefore, he became Roman Becquet dit Lamontagne. The custom of the use of dit names persisted and was carried to Canada. There are some families in the Province of Quebec that at this late date, are still using a "double" family name. It was when the numbers of family members diminished that dit names began to disappear from the scene.

United States Land Surveys

The system which governs the survey of the territories of the United States is a peculiar one. It is based upon a plan which makes a division of the land into squares of uniform size, so arranged that any tract of 160 acres, or a "quarter section" may have a distinct designation and be readily found upon the map, or recognized upon the ground by the marks the surveyors leave. Appleton's American Encyclopedia describes this plan clearly and concisely as follows:

Each great survey is based upon a meridian line run due north and south by astronomical measurements, the whole extent of the survey in these directions, and upon a "standard parallel" or base line, running east and west, similarly established with great accuracy. Parallels to these lines are run every six miles, usually with the solar compass corrected by frequent celestial observations, and thus, as nearly as the figure of the earth admits, the surface is divided into squares of six miles north and south and the same east and west, each one containing thirty-six square miles. The territory is further divided into sections by meridians and parallels run at every mile; while the half mile is marked on these lines by setting what is called a "quarter post", the points are established for the subdivisions into quarter sections.

The squares of thirty-six square miles are termed townships, often contracted into "towns"; and each line of them east and west is numbered either N or S from the base line, and each line of them N and S is termed a range, and either numbered E or W from the meridian. The N and S lines bordering the townships are known as range lines, and the E and W lines as township lines. Each survey is designated by the meridian upon which it is based, and of these principal meridians there are six designated by numbers, and eighteen by special names. The first meridian adopted for these surveys was the boundary line between Ohio and Indiana; the second through Indiana on the meridian of the Ohio river; the fourth north from the mouth of the Illinois river; the fifth north from the river Arkansas; the sixth on the 40th parallel of longitude.

After a township is determined the sections of it are numbered beginning with the northeast corner, running thence across and back until the 36th is reached on the southeast corner.

Because of the conquest of the Northwestern Territory by George Rogers Clark, and the addition of this land north and west of the Ohio river to the United States by surrender of her rights on the part of the commonwealth of Virginia, there remained but satisfactory treaties to be made with the Indians to open the country to the use of the white settler.

William Henry Harrison was appointed governor of the territory of Indiana at the time of its organization, in 1800, and not only that but he was made general Indian agent for that territory which extended to the Mississippi river on the west, and to the line of the state of Ohio on the east. This territory held the most numerous and most populous Indian tribes west of the Mississippi river.

History in the Dollar Bill

Take out a dollar bill and look at it. The one dollar bill you're looking at first came off the presses in 1957 in its present design. This so-called paper money is in fact a cotton and linen blend and red and blue minute silk fibers running through it. It is actually material.

We've all washed it without it falling apart. A special blend of ink is used, the contents we will never know.

It is overprinted with symbols and then it is starched to make it water resistant and pressed to give it that nice crisp look. If you look on the front of the bill, you will see the United States Treasury Seal. On the top you will see the scales for the balance-a balanced budget.

In the center you have a carpenter's T-square, a tool used for an even cut. Underneath is the Key to the United States Treasury. That's all pretty easy to figure out, but what is on the back of that dollar bill is something we should all know.

If you turn the bill over, you will see two circles. Both circles together comprise the Great Seal of the United States. The first Continental Congress requested that Benjamin Franklin and a group of men come up with a Seal. It took them four years to accomplish this task and another two years to get it approved. If you look at the left hand circle, you will see a pyramid. Notice the face is lighted and the western side is dark. This country was just beginning. We had not begun to explore the West or decided what we could do for Western Civilization. The Pyramid is uncapped, again signifying that we were not even close to being finished. Inside the capstone you have the all-seeing eye, an ancient symbol for divinity. It was Franklin's belief that one man couldn't do it alone, but a group of men with the help of God, could do anything.

"IN GOD WE TRUST" is on this currency. The Latin above the pyramid ANNUIT COEPTIS, means "God has favored our undertaking". The Latin below the pyramid, NOVUS ORDO SECLORUM, means "a new order has begun". At the base of the Pyramid is the Roman Numeral for 1776.

If you look at the right-hand circle, and check it carefully, you will learn that it is on every National Cemetery in the United States. It is also on the Parade of Flags Walkway at the Busnell, Florida, National cemetery and is the centerpiece of most hero's monuments. Slightly modified, it is the Seal of the President of the United States and is always visible whenever he speaks, yet no one knows what the symbols mean. The Bald Eagle was selected as a symbol for victory for two reasons: first, he is not afraid of a storm, he is strong and he is smart enough to soar above it. Secondly, he wears no material crown. We had just broken from the king of England.

Also, notice the shield is unsupported. This country can now stand on its own. At the top of that shield, you have a white bar signifying congress, a unifying factor. We were coming together as one nation. In the Eagle's beak you will read, "E PLURIBUS UNUM" meaning "one nation from many people."

Above the Eagle you have thirteen stars representing the thirteen original colonies, and any clouds of misunderstanding rolling away. Again, we were coming together as one. Notice what the Eagle holds in his talons. He holds an olive branch and arrows. This country wants peace but we will never be afraid nor hesitate to fight to preserve peace. The Eagle always wants to face the olive branch, but in time of war, his gaze turns towards the arrows.

They say that the number 13 is an unlucky number. This is almost a worldwide belief. You will usually never see a room numbered 13 or any hotels or motels with a 13th floor. But, think about this: 13 original colonies, 13 signers of the Declaration of Independence, 13 stripes on our flag, 13 steps on the Pyramid, 13 letters in the Latin above, 13 letters in "E PLURIBUS UNUM", 13 stars above the Eagle, 13 plumes of feathers on each span of the Eagle's wings, 13 bars on that shield, 13 leaves on the olive branch, 13 fruits, and if you look closely, 13 arrows. And for the minorities: the 13th Amendment.

Newberry Website

Newberry Library has expanded their website with several new features. They have added 3 new quick searches: a Chicago ward/enumeration district search, a soundex search and a Chicago church records search by going to: <http://www.newberry.org/nl/genealogy/quicksearch.html>

The ward/enumeration district search is for patrons who have a Chicago address and want to locate that address in the 1870, 1880, 1900 or 1910 census. They will find the ward where the address was located in 1870, or determine the enumeration district for the later censuses.

The soundex search allows access to the soundex indexes of the 1880, 190 and 1920 censuses.

In the new Chicago church search, they will search the church records in their collection for baptisms, marriages and death/burials.

In addition, they have added a new page of Chicago databases at: <http://www.newberry.org/nl/genealogy/chicagodata.htm> Taken from the Will/Grundy Co. Newsletter, Vol. XIX, #9, April 2001.

1882 KANKAKEE COUNTY DEATHS

Taken from the Kankakee Gazette (publication date in parentheses).

(09 Feb 1882) In Salina, Jan. 28, of consumption, Emma Hansing, aged twenty-five years, daughter of John Hansing.

(09 Feb 1882) Last night after a short illness, Mr. R. Chadwich, one of our prominent citizens, died at his residence, in his sixty-third year. Mr. Chadwich was an active and energetic man, was identified with telegraphy when in its infancy, being one of the first operators that worked on the lines centering in Philadelphia. He came to this place in the fall of 1871 to take charge of the office of the old Chicago, Danville & Vincennes railroad, remaining in charge after it became the Chicago & Eastern Illinois to the day of his death. He was not only ticket and freight agent of the road, but also the agent of the different express and telegraph companies crossing this point. The amount of work resulting from so many agencies was enough to severely test a man of more than ordinary ability, but his activities overcome the work so that he found time, until lately, to add to it some private business. His energy and his affability in his intercourse with everyone who approached him won him many friends, and when the news of his death spread, the expression of deep regret was general.

The deceased leaves a wife, one grown son and one grown daughter and two little girls aged respectively three and five years. He left his property to his wife, who will make the most of it, and we hope will succeed, (without too much strain upon herself) in sustaining herself and the two young children independently. The bereaved relatives have the most heartfelt sympathy of the community.

(16 Feb 1882) In Mومence, Feb. 1, of quick consumption, Mrs. F. O. Clark, daughter of Asa Griffin, aged 36 years.

(16 Feb 1882) In Ganer, Feb. 6, of consumption, Mrs. W. N. Stors, daughter of S. J. Lake, aged 24 years.

(16 Feb 1882) In this city, Feb. 10, 1882, Artie J. Shekey, oldest son of Joseph and Annie Shekey, aged 3 years and 4 months.

(23 Feb 1882) In Aroma, Feb. 3, of typhoid fever, Lillie E. Redford, aged 8 years.

(23 Feb 1882) Samuel Shanks, for eighteen years past a resident of Manteno, was run over by the cars and killed at that place last Saturday night. He started for home, it is said, after the night express trains had passed, and was next seen the following morning, cold in death, both legs cut off, and his remains lying between the rails and the depot platform. For some years past he has been a dissipated man, and it is probable that his death is due to the inordinate use of liquor. Shanks was about forty years of age, unmarried, and without a relative in this portion of the country. He possessed two notable traits of character which even the demoralizing effects of strong drink failed to obliterate, viz, truthfulness and honesty.

LIMESTONE & SALINA - 1882

Taken from the Kankakee Gazette, February 16, 1882.

After reading the glowing description of the muchly named city that has a post office called McDowell Farm, and for a brief period christened Bonfield, and is now called Verkler by your correspondent E, I concluded to go west one day last week and if I could not "grow up with the country" or swallow Jonah's whale, to have a good square look at Mr. Jonah's or rather Mr. E's wonderful ground and "desirable surroundings". Well, I found several buildings going up, lots of grain being loaded into cars, a grocery store doing a good business and a barrel of very sweet cider on tap; but I did not see any first-class college, a no solemn looking professor, and nary student; and if you will believe me, Mr. Editor, they had not even dug a trench in the sand in which to lay the foundation stones of that church where the pastor anticipates that quarterly meeting will be held the 8th of next April. But Verkler (that was the name last week) is a new, thriving, smart, lively, expanding, ambitious little town and has the right kind of folks in and around her to build up a No. 1 town, and they will do it too, without exaggerating facts, or assuming possibilities to be probabilities.

KVGS MEETINGS & NEWS

Upcoming Meetings:

Aug. 4, 2001	Cemetery Walk/Lunch - Simpson's Restaurant, Momence
Sept. 8, 2001	Ancestors Video "High-Tech Help"
Oct. 6, 2001	Marcia Stang - program to be announced
Nov. 3, 2001	Video
December 8, 2001	Christmas Party - Green Briar Restaurant

The Society has been working towards breaking up the Northeast Section Cemetery book into three township books. The reason for this was prompted by the fact that many more current cemetery markers were not included in the original book and many mistakes were found that were not corrected. For all those members who have come out for the past two years of cemetery walks, thanks!!! Without our volunteers, nothing could get done.

A special thanks needs to be extended to Betty Spreen who donated a beautiful hand woven afghan to the society. We decided to raffle tickets at the May meeting as well as the Strawberry Festival and were glad to see one of our members, Harlan Murphy, win the afghan. Our best wishes are extended to Harlan and Pauline Murphy who have worked so hard for the society and have had to deal with serious health issues this summer. Pauline has had two surgeries and is undergoing further treatment in her battle with breast cancer. We send our most sincere get well wishes.

If any of our locals missed it, the Journal ran an article in the local newspaper on the new Ellis Island website. Both Jim Birkenbeil and Marcia Stang from the society were interviewed and it was nice to have a little 'PR' for the society.

We're happy to report that member Dale Monty is working on the Kankakee portion of the 1880 census as well as scanning and retyping parts of the first five volumes of the quarterly. He only has 6 more quarterlies to go before he'll be done. Also we're happy to report that Jim Birkenbeil, who recently purchased a good video camera, has volunteered to photograph pre-1900 grave markers throughout the county. We will be storing these photographs on zip disks by cemetery by surname as a part of our collection.

Any members with stories or articles about ancestors who lived in Kankakee County are invited to submit them for publication in the quarterly.

A big thank you needs to be extended to Dorothy Riegel and Nelda Ravens for manning the society's table at the Bonfield 4th of July Celebration. They must have worked hard because they sold $215 in publications!

New additions to our collection include Volume II of The Great Migration: Immigrants to New England 1634-1635 (C-F) and Purple Heart in the Pacific by Gary Pray. This book is a wonderful account of Company C, 21st Regiment, 24th Infantry Division in which the author's father served. The book includes many maps documenting various military campaigns in New Guinea and the Philippines. A great deal of time and research went into the making of this book. For anyone interested in purchasing this book, the cost is $27.00 plus $2 S&H. Write to Gary Pray, 859 S. Curtis, Kankakee, IL 60901-4685.

We also were sent by member Louwana Johnson They Chose Minnesota, A survey of the State's Ethnic Groups, edited by June Drenning Holmquist. Page 49 of this book states, "Nearby Marshall, the seat of Lyon County, had received an infusion of French Canadians after 1895, some from the old French town of Bourbonnais, Illinois." Thank you Louwana for this wonderful addition to our collection!

Research meetings are held on the third Wednesday of each month and out-of-town members should write to the society requesting assistance with a particular ancestor. The Research Committee will look up information in all our publications as well as various histories and centennial books. Please realize it may take 4-6 weeks for a reply during our busy months.

The Joliet Diocese of the Catholic Church gave the society permission to transcribe and publish the records of the St. Stanislaus and Immaculate Conception Churches. Anyone interested in transcribing the St. Stanislaus Church Records (1902-1935) or Manteno United Methodist Church Records should contact the society. Ardis Boone was good enough to volunteer to transcribe the Immaculate Conception Church Records (1870-1956).

Good news - we'll have a new publication very soon. The Asbury United Methodist Church Book has been indexed and now will be sent out for printing and then out for binding. We hope to have it available sometime this fall. A special thanks to Peg Paschke for all her hard work computerizing these records and I'm sure she's been wondering what we've been doing with this book for so long! We're happy to say it's now been indexed and ready to go!

1857, by the board of supervisors, chief among whom was Supervisor Gubtail, who suggested that, since they had an Aroma, they ought also to have an Otto township, Otto being a corruption of attar, the aromatic principle of the essential oil of roses. The thought grew from the supervisor's appreciation of the acres of prairie flowers surrounding the homes of the settlers.

The first election was held at the school house in District No. 2, Township ,29, Range 13 West, on April 1, 1856, with the following result:

Luther Gubtail, supervisor; Isaiah Axtell, assessor and town clerk; John Primmer, collector; Zeno Streeter and William Huckins, justices of the peace; William W. T. Everett and Jonas J. Cookingham, constables; Hylan Colby, George Slater, Franklin Mabee, commissioners of highways, and James Barnett, overseer of the poor.

The earliest settlers included Luther Gubtail and William Huckins, who came in 1847; James Barnett and Joseph Smith, 1848; Aaron Stack-pole, Zeno Streeter, Henry Ostrander and Elisha Parsons, 1849; ;Joseph Huckins, 1852; Alphonso Mellen, 1853, and R. J. Hanna, James, William, Charles and John Frith, 1855.

The first church was built by the Methodists near Alphonso Mellen's on the southwest corner of Section 22, near Put's Ford, and still maintains its organization.

The first marriage was that of William Val-lon and Barbara, Sammons, Squire Isaiah Ax-tell officiating. The first death was that of Jacob Miller.

This township is bound on the west by Pilot township, on the south by Iroquois county, on the east by the Iroquois river, and on the north by Aroma, Kankakee and Limestone townships. It is drained easterly into the Iroquois river by Trail creek, having its rise in Iroquois county and emptying into the river just below Sugar island; and by Minnie creek, rising in the extreme western part of the town, passing east along the north line of the Kankakee and Southwestern railroad, crossing the Illinois Central railroad a few rods north of Otto Junction, and emptying into the Iroquois river on the southwest corner of Section 28, Township 30, Range 13 West. The fall is from the south, north to the creek. 'While a small portion •of the land is drained by ditches, north to Gar creek in Limestone and to the northeast, through lands in the town of Aroma. In times of low or a medium stage of water there are five places known as fords; Sugar island, just below where the iron wagon bridge now is; Sammon's, Seager's, Vining's, and Put's. Sugar Island dam, erected by Henry Ostrander in 1849, was kept, in partial repair until eight or ten years ago when the right to the same was sold to Iroquois county by the owner, who had abandoned it and moved his mill to Chebanse. The interest Iroquois county had in the removal of the dam was to afford better drainage for some of her farm lands.

Sugar island is a beautiful site, having beautiful shade trees, good fishing, and excellent facilities for camping and picnics. The old Butterfield trail passed this place and through Sammon's point, Hawkin's ford and Bourbonnais to Chicago. The iron bridge across the river was built in 1902 and cost $1,315.49 and is 375 feet long. The Kankakee and Southwestern railroad starts on the half section line at Otto Junction, running west. This road was built in 1878, and has a grain elevator at Otto and two elevators at Irwin.

The village of Sugar Island was surveyed by Luther Gubtail for Henry Ostrander in 1850. Ostrander had built a sawmill on the Aroma side of the Iroquois river in the previous year, 1849. Later he erected a grist mill on the Otto side of the river. Nearly all the town plat has been vacated and the once valuable corner lots have long since been cultivated as acre property.

Otto Junction on the Illinois Central railroad was settled in 1845 by Simon Mabee and Thomas Scammon. This is the junction of the main and middle divisions of this railroad.

The taxable property of the town in 1904 was as follows:

PILOT TOWNSHIP.

This township extends six miles wide east and west, and eight miles north and south. It has forty-eight sections of land, including all of Township 30 North, Range 10 East, and two tiers of sections off the north side of Town 29 North, Range 10 East.

Originally the lands in this township were prairie, with the exception of forty acres, covered with an excellent quality of timber on the northeast one-fourth of Section 2, Township 29.

The grove situated on a hill and at its feet a beautiful rolling prairie stretching away in undulating folds as far as the eye could see, made a picture rarely found elsewhere in nature, and fully justifying the title of Grand Prairie. From a distance the grove loomed up massive and solitary, and in its prominence was a guide by which the early settlers were wont to direct their course over the trackless prairies. Hence the name Pilot grove. At the organization of this county Morey F. Frink was the owner of this grove, having purchased it from Joel B. Hawkins, who settled in the town of Limestone in 1834. Mr. Frink died in this county some years ago, leaving a widow and son, Fred, who have preserved the grove in its original form, and who own also six hundred acres of as fertile and productive lands as are to be found in the valley of the Kankakee. The time was when Pilot grove was the only timber in the town, but now there are few farms that do not have an abundance of shade.

The first house in the town was a log cabin, built by Joel B. Hawkins in Pilot grove in 1847. The territory comprising this township was within the boundaries of Limestone township from 1833 until April 27, 1854, when it was set off to the town of Salina, and March 11, 1857, was taken from Salina and became the township of Pilot, deriving its name from Pilot grove.

The drainage of Pilot is adequate, the east and west branches of Horse creek traversing it in a northerly and westerly direction, and eventually finding its way into the Kankakee river in Will county.

The Indiana, Illinois & Iowa railway passes through the town from east to west, one-half mile from the north line. It has two stations: Goodrich on the west line of Section 2, and Carrow, on the east part of Section 1, Township 30 North, Range 10 East.

The northeastern corner of the town is underlaid with limestone, and the Carrow quarries are noted for producing the best quality of building stone in the county. The stone foundations of the Arcade building, in Kankakee, are from those quarries.

The prediction of the writer is that in the near future the southwestern towns of the county will macadamize their roads with stone taken from this and Limestone townships, transporting the same by means of electric railways.

The first officers of Pilot township were as follows: Morey F. Frink, supervisor; George Robertson, town clerk; Sidney Dubois, assessor; Lyman B. Flint, collector and constable; Samuel Ingals and D. A. Robertson, justices of the peace; Martin Kibbey, constable; Azariah Buck, Seth T. Comstock and A. L. Clark, commissioners of highways.

At this first town meeting there was a total vote of thirty-two, and the majority were opposed to the improvement of the Kankakee river, which was a live issue at that time. In 1878, the Illinois Central railroad company constructed the Kankakee & Southwestern railroad from Otto station to Bloomington, passing through the town of Pilot, and the same year John Herscher platted the village of Herscher, situated on the east part of Section 29, on the line of the railroad. The elevation of this town is thirty-eight feet greater than the Illinois Central railroad tracks at Kankakee.

Oil has been found in the vicinity of the village of Herscher, but not in sufficient quantities to warrant the working of the wells. More or less natural gas also exists, but like the oil, not in assured or promising quantities. There are four shipping points in this town—Herscher and Dickey's Siding on the Southwestern railroad and Goodrich and Cagwin on the "Three I" railroad. Lands in this township sell at from $125 to $150 per acre, and the usual purchasers are persons who have been residents of the town for many years, which speaks well for the quality of the land.

Some of the early settlers of the township were as follows: Lawrence Fetterly, Leon Bertrand, Morey F. Frink, 1851; Nathan B. Lewis and A. L. Cook, 1852; Peter Ginger and M. Burkhart, 1854; Azariah Buck, Jacob F. and William Dittus, Paul E. Schoot, George Wilcox, Frederick Herscher, John and Andrew Hersch, Henry Amidon and James Bowlby, 1855. Prior to the advent of the Southwestern railway there was a store, blacksmith shop and postoffice at Pilot center, on the southwest corner of Section 22. The postoffice was established in 1865. Hiram Aldrich was the first merchant prince of the community.

The taxable property in this town. for 1904 was:

Real and personal estate	$476,232

The supervisors of this town have been as follows: Morey F. Frink, 1857; Nathan Chester, 1859; Azariah Buck, 1860; Philip Harscher, 1868; Azariah Buck, 1869; Jonas H. VILLAGE OF HERSCHER.

The village of Herscher is a thriving place of about 450 inhabitants, situated practically in the center of Pilot township, on the Kankakee & Southwestern railroad.

It was incorporated in 1882, with John Herscher, president; F. B. Whittium, clerk; and John Wheeler, H. Amidon, P. Karcher, Frank Grosse and J. Dieffenbach, trustees.

All lines of business are represented, and the village boasts of two state banks. The State Bank of Herscher was organized in 1899, with the following officers: president, Azariah Buck; vice-president, James Inkster; cashier, R. P. Easton. The directors are Azariah Buck, James Inkster, Eugene Comstock, George N. Wilcox, Jacob Reinhart, J. Frank Leonard, Henry Appel, John Karcher, R. P. Easton.

The Citizens State bank of Herscher was incorporated in 1905, with capital stock of $25,000 and the following officers: President, Gust Berger; vice-president, O. T. NORTON TOWNSHIP

Norton township, in the extreme southwest corner of the county, is bounded on the north by Essex, and on the east by Pilot township; and on the south by Ford and on the west by Livingston counties. It contains forty-eight sections of land, extending six miles east and west and eight miles north and south.

At the time of the organization of Kankakee county in April, 1853, the town was a part of Vermilion county. By act of the legislature of 1855, it, and the town of Essex, became a part of Kankakee county. At that time, Ira C. Mosier, residing in, and serving as supervisor of Essex, Vermilion county, presented his credentials, and became a member of the board of supervisors of this county, representing Norton and Essex under the name of the latter.

March 11, 1857, the territory comprising the present township of Norton was separated from Essex and given its present name.

Without a stick of natural timber within many miles, with its prairies gently sloping to the north, and traversed by creeks and ditches, affording the most thorough drainage for all the lands in the town, a decided appropriateness lurks in its name of "Grand Prairie."

The surface soil of the township is a deep black loam with a clay sub-soil, and it is rated with the most productive lands in the county. Major Wardell, said to have been the first settler, located in 1852 upon the northwest quarter of Section 13.

William V. States, an arrival of 1858, credits two brothers of the name of Kelsaus, with the first settlement of this town. Their home was on the west half of Section 32, which, in 1855, was purchased by Joseph and Theodore Smith, who settled there with their families during the following year.

Among others who came at an early day were James H. Armitage, who settled on Section 17, Thomas, James and Frederick Glass who settled on Sections 32 and 33 in 1856, and Elbert Colestock, who, with his family of seven children, took up all of Section 28. A native of Huntingdon, Pennsylvania, Mr. Colestock, prior to coming to Norton, was a member of the legislature from La Salle county, this state.

William Unz settled on the northwest quarter of Section 5 and Geo. Fellers on the northeast quarter of Section G, Township 30; Range 9 East.

The first election for township officers was held April, 1857, at the residence of Major Wardell. Twenty-one votes were polled with the following result: Supervisor, Major Wardell; town clerk, James Glass; assessor, David Wright; collector, Samuel Carr; justices, John Carr and James H. Armitage; constables, George H. Allen and Fred A. Glass; commissioners of highways, Charles M. Luther, Thomas B. Glass and Harvey Platt.

At this meeting the question of improving the Kankakee river was voted upon, and it is a matter of pride that every vote cast was against the proposition.

Mr. William V. States, now living in Buckingham, says: "In coming from Kankakee, on the 21st of March, 1858, on my way to my future home on the rich prairies of Illinois, I was on horseback. The first house I saw was that of Cooley G. Pratt, on the southwest quarter of Section 13, two miles south of Union hill. Waiving all formalities of introduction, by card or otherwise, we were but a short time in becoming acquainted. We recall the fact that Mr. Pratt had two very large cribs of corn. The cribs were such as many of the Illinois farmers used in the early days, made of rails, with ears set up on end to close the cracks. The corn in the cribs was nicely rounded off, otherwise there was no protection against the storms.

"Mr. Pratt pointed out to me my father's house on Section 33, about five miles distant. We rode across the trackless prairies, crossing section 27, about where the village of Buckingham now stands. Seeing a group of nine persons standing in a row, we approached, and to my surprise it proved to be the family of a former acquaintance of mine, Elbert Colestock, whom I had known intimately in Huntingdon county, Pennsylvania.

"At the solicitation of Mr. Colestock we remained over night with him, and, borrowing a set of harness of Mr. James Glass, we started the next morning for Dwight, a distance of sixteen and a half miles, driving Mr. Colestock's team. At Dwight we loaded two boxes of household goods, and returned to Colestock's place the same day. My two younger brothers, who had arrived that day, accompanied me home.

"Deer were quite plentiful even after my arrival in the country. Mr. John Law killed two at one shot on Section 4, north of Cabery, and Adam Glass killed another the same night. Mr. George Allen, who now lives in Chebanse, ran one down with his beautiful horse Bay Dan.

"And one would think from the noise that the wolves made at night that they numbered legions; prairie chickens were always to be had in abundance."

Prior to the advent of the railroads many of the farmers fed their corn to cattle as the easier way to market it, as for many years the nearest market was fifteen or twenty miles distant. This distance made it necessary to keep one or two teams on the road nearly all summer to market the crops of the preceding year.

The Indiana, Illinois & Iowa railroad passes through Norton from east to west on the half-section line of the north tier of sections. The road has a trackage of six miles in the town, and at Union hill, in the northeast corner, a station and grain shipping point, another being located at Reddick, in the northwest corner. Good prices for grain have always been paid on this road, for the construction of which the town voted $12,000, meeting the interest and principal when due, notwithstanding it was many years before the road was completed. The total amount of tax paid by this road for the year 1904 was $772.04.

The Kankakee & Southwestern railroad enters this town on the east, on the half-section line of Section 25, running thence westerly two and one quarter miles to the village of Buckingham, on the east half of Section 27, then southerly to Cabery, on the county line, on the south half of Section 29, leaving the county at this point. This same road has a branch running from Buckingham in a northwesterly direction to the coal fields at Clarke City and has a total trackage of thirteen miles and ninety-eight feet in the township, affording excellent shipping facilities at Buckingham, Cabery, and Clarke city. The total tax extended against this road for 1904 was $1,476.69.

A third railroad, the Wabash, which crosses the town at its northwest corner, on Section 6, passes through the village of Reddick, and has a total trackage of 6,254 feet. It was taxed $478.19 for the year 1904.

William L. Conrow moved to Buckingham in the fall of 1877, and erected a cheese factory near the present village of Buckingham. He is said to have been the projector of the Southwestern branch of the Illinois Central railroad, having drawn the plans and presented them to the officials of the road, thereby inducing them to build.

As an inducement towards the location of a station at the site of the present village of Buckingham, George and James Townsend deeded to 13benezer Buckingham, trustee, fifteen acres of land on each side of the railroad. Of the thirty acres of land so deeded, all was platted by Buckingham, and has since been sold, except such as was reserved for railroad purposes and the park. Mrs. Conrow has been the resident agent for Mr. Buckingham.

The first postmaster was Mrs. A. E. Conrow, and the first elevator was built by Enoch Colby. There are at present two elevators, owned by J. Armitage and the Inkster brothers, respectively.

The village has two general and dry goods stores, one furniture store, one blacksmith shop, a drug store, barber shop, saloon and several other business enterprises. The village is lighted by electricity.

There are two churches, the Presbyterian and the Methodist.

The taxable property in this town for 1904 was as follows:

Real and personal estate	$513,835.00
Wabash Railroad	11,894.00
Kankakee & Southwestern Railroad....	47,257.00
Indiana, Illinois & Iowa Railroad.	22,944.00

 Total	 $596,281.00

The supervisors in this town have been Major Wardell, 1857; David Wright, 1858; J. H. Armitage, 1859-60; Rowland Brown, 1861; James Glass 1862; M. F. Campbell, 1863-64; Walter A. VILLAGE OF REDDICK.

The village of Reddick was incorporated in October, 1890, and the following officers elected: President, James Reilly; trustees, John Ambrose, W. G. Bloxam, John Grof, Karl Schmidt, Andrew Peterson, Ely A. Oakes; clerk, John T. Dooling.

The present officers are: President, O. C. Herbst; trustees, John Reilly, William Emme, Cleveland Ambrose, Joe Buntain, A. S. Currie, B. F. Hertz; clerk, J. C. Nelson.

The village has a population of about four hundred and has three churches, two elevators and several general business enterprises.

The Reddick State Bank was organized in April, 1903, with a capital stock of $25,000. Its officers are as follows: President, John Studley; vice-president, H. M. Stone; cashier, Huntington James; directors, John Studley, H. M. Stone, C. R. Miller, Huntington James, W. S. Vander-water.

VILLAGE OF CABERY.

Although Cabery lies partly in Kankakee and partly in Ford county the main street being along the county line, it is here considered among Kankakee county towns. As the early records were destroyed by fire, it is impossible to name the first officers of the village. It was platted in November, 1878, at 'the request of Chester L. Ames.

There are located in Cabery two grain elevators, two banks, three blacksmith shops, two hotels, one furnishing, three general,-two hardware, and two furniture stores, a bakery, produce and commission store, a butcher shop, harness and shoe store, barber shop, billiard hall, and opera house and hall. Its newspaper is the Cabery Enquirer.

The village is lighted by electricity, and has an excellent waterworks system.

The medical profession is well represented by Dr. William A. Miller and Doctor Gray.

VILLAGE OF BUCKINGHAM.

Although the village of Buckingham was platted in 1882, the incorporation of the village was not accomplished until July, 1902. The first village officers were as follows:

President, J. M. Beveridge; clerk, C. P. Coleman; trustees, G. E. Pelling, H. F. Snyder, C. W. Smith, John Nutt, William Hersher, Ben Randall.

In the village are two general stores, a blacksmith shop, a hardware store, drug store, meat-

INTERESTING FACTS

Both Montreal and Toronto, Canada, originally had different names; Montreal was Ville Marie and Toronto was York.

The Star-Spangled Banner wasn't named the national anthem by Congress until 1931.

Oddly, there are towns in America named Michigan, VT; Kentucky, MI; New York, ICY; Vermont, IN; Indiana, PA; Pennsylvania, AL; and Alabama, NY, to say nothing of Kansas City, MO.

Amazingly, the 7 biggest cities in the U.S. are home to about 25% of all the U.S. population.

Oddly enough, four of the first six U.S. Presidents were all the same age when they were inaugurated - George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and John Quincy Adams were all 57 when they took the oath of office. And no President since then has been inaugurated at that age.

In web-site addresses on the Internet, what does http stand for? Answer: hypertext transfer protocol.

Minnesota's capital, St. Paul, was originally called Pig's Eye - and Montana's capital, Helena, was originally named Last Chance Gulch.

Two countries who fought each other in World War I - England and Germany - were headed by members of the same family. The King of England during the war, George V. and the ruler of Germany, Kaiser Wilhelm, were first cousins. They were both grandsons of England's Queen Victoria.
