

FRANK GEBHARDT, FORMER CABERY RESIDENT, PASSES

BURIAL OF CHICAGO HEIGHTS
MAN OCCURS IN MOUNT
HOPE SUNDAY

Frank Carl Gebhardt, son of Charles and Bertha Gebhardt, was born Oct. 3rd, 1885, in Cabery, Illinois, and passed away on June 8, 1944 in St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, Illinois. While working on an evening on a second-story window he lost his balance and fell, striking a parked car below, and then the sidewalk. He was rushed to the hospital and passed away two hours later from skull fracture, internal injuries and shock.

Frank spent his childhood in Cabery and received his education in the Cabery Public school. While at home he assisted his father in his undertaking and furniture store. As a young man he went to Kankakee state hospital, where he learned his life work as a sheet metal worker. After being there several years he went to Chicago Heights, where he established his home and was employed by the John Maier Sheet Metal Industries for whom he worked for 27 years. He was a member of the Lutheran church in Chicago Heights.

The clock of life is wound but once,

And no man hath the power
To tell just when the hands will stop—

At late or early hour,
Now is the only time you own;
Live, love, toil with a will;
Place no faith in tomorrow; for
The clock may then be still.

NEWS OF OUR MEN—WOMEN IN UNIFORM

From Verle Smicker,
Anzio Beachhead, May 14.

Dear Folks:
Today is Mother's Day, but does not seem much like it to me. I only hope you have as pretty a day as it is here. The sun is hot, but there is a nice breeze. I do not remember if I was home on Mother's Day two years ago or not, but I was around that time.

I received two letters from you tonight—the latest one May 3rd—so your air mail letters are coming faster than Y-mail now. I am glad you received my letter about me being at the Beachhead, Mom, you cannot realize what it is like here. It is not so bad once you are used to it. I thought it was when I first came here but it does not bother me any more. We get shelled and bombed nearly every day, but live in holes under ground so it is not so bad, or guess we have been lucky. I have seen dog fights, etc. That is about all I can write. Maybe the censor will cut part of this out.

Gus still drives the kitchen truck. S/Sgt. Katz is still supply sergeant of our company. He handles all clothes, etc., that are given our men and officers. I have seen Knittel five times. It was really good getting to see him.

I guess I had better black out my hole as it is after nine and getting dark and we cannot afford to have any light showing at night. It is bed time for me as this is the first night for a week I have not been out until after midnight. Last night it was 3:30. Would be out tonight but my truck is dead lined. Have to have new brakes and some other work done on it. I side swiped a truck a few nights ago so have to straighten out the side some. It should take a couple of days to get the brakes so will have a little rest for once. I hope you are all O. K. Gus and I are just fine. He sleeps about ten yards from me.

Verle.

This letter is part of a delayed letter received June 12th by Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Smicker from their son Verle. The latest letter to date they have received from him was written May 30, in which he stated that it was just two years to the day that he left for overseas. He had not seen Knittel for some time. When he did see him he looked the same as always, only had put on a little weight. He had received a letter from him; also one from Everett Piercy.

A/T Mitchell Gasse arrived in Cabery Friday morning to spend a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gasse. Mitchell graduated from the college training detachment at Nashville, Tenn., on May 22nd, and was one of a small group of lucky students who were granted leaves. He will return to Spence Field, Moultrie, Georgia, tomorrow to await assignment to a new field for pre-flight training.

THE BONDS YOU BOUGHT HAVE GONE TO WAR

—BUT The Battle is Bigger than Ever!

You Can't Fail them NOW!

BACK THE 5TH WAR LOAN TO THE LIMIT

REMEMBER the Sicilian invasion? Each mechanized division required 18,000 gallons of gasoline for every hour it was on the move.

Remember the invasion of Italy? The cost to reach the mainland from the time we began the attack in North Africa was 1,800 aircraft lost.

Even when we win, we lose vast stores of guns, planes, tanks and other equipment. For that is the price of victory. The Bonds you bought in the first four War Loan Drives are today's exploding bombs and shells! They can never be used again.

But today the battle is bigger than ever! And that is why you must do MORE than you've ever done before in the 5th War Loan.

Buy all you can—and then more! More than you've ever bought before. Invest not only out of current income but out of idle and accumulated funds. This is the biggest job America has ever had to do! Let's show our fighting men we can do it!

What's Ahead?: Our fine American boys are fighting and dying all over this world, so that the principles and ideals in which we believe may be carried on to the benefit of ourselves and all civilization. It is, therefore, astounding to read the press release coming out of Detroit on June 6th as follows: "The United Automobile Workers (CIO) has asked the General Motors Corporation to fire war veterans who belonged to the Union before entering service, but failed to maintain their membership after getting their old jobs back on discharge from the armed forces."

If, by any bare chance, some of the boys now giving their all in the invasion efforts were to read such an item in the papers, what would they think? Would they stop to ask: "What are we fighting for?" Are the boys to return to ask for jobs which will be denied them unless they bow to the will and demands of well-organized labor groups who may have sufficient power to stop them from obtaining gainful employment? Is this what is called fighting for defense of our liberties, privileges and rights as American citizens? Labor certainly is entitled to a place in the sun and justified in its efforts to obtain fair hours and better working conditions along with collective bargaining, etc., but to permit certain unscrupulous labor leaders to plunge their cause into direct conflict with public opinion through just such action as that taken in Detroit is rapidly destroying public confidence toward the rank and file of labor who want to be fair and honest in their organized effort to improve the lot of the working man.

Jobs and Jobs: Many people feel that after the war there will be so many things the American public will want to buy that factories and industry and service of all kinds will be busy as bees turning out, selling and delivering the desired products. They feel this will cause full employment for quite some time, over a span of a few years at least. However, in analyzing the labor market, it should be remembered that when war production ceases and demobilization of our armed forces once is completed, we will have an extraordinarily large number of workers available for peacetime jobs. It is estimated that the total number of peacetime workers for the post war period may run as high as 60 million. Granting that certain numbers will retire from work after the war, and that a goodly number will remain in the services because of the need for a larger Army and Navy, the guess is that there will be approximately nine million more workers than there are jobs available. This presents a problem which must have attention. Does this set up the possibility of the question again being approached and treated only through government aid and assistance? If so, more government spending is on the way.

NEW VILLAGE MARSHAL
Dave Ruehle assumed his duties as village marshal of Cullom last Thursday night, June 1st, succeeding John Trost. Mr. Ruehle has held the job on former occasions, and has been working at the munitions plant.

Supreme Court and Insurance: For years and years there has been in existence the general practice that fire insurance business be under state supervision and not subject to the Sherman Act of 1890 which prohibits monopolies and restraints trusts. Congress has repeatedly refused to pass legislation for national supervision of the insurance business. The Supreme Court, however, now concludes that the insurance business is subject to the provisions of the Sherman Act. In other words, insurance as now interpreted by the highest court, comes under interstate commerce. Many Members of Congress feel that the Court has acted to assert national control over the insurance business in spite of Congress and that the Court is acting as a second legislative body wherein they substitute their own judgment for that of Congress on legislative issues. Congress is supposed to write the laws, the Court to interpret them. Over the years, all states have rather successfully built up good systems of insurance control.

War Department Appropriation: Sometimes it is hard for the average person to understand why war is so costly. The House will shortly take up for consideration the War Department appropriation bill for the next fiscal year. Last year the bill called for expenditures of over 74 billion. This year the figure is near 50 billion. To draw attention to how these appropriation items are used, look at the following: "Largest item in the new bill is $12,686,000,000 for pay and travel, with Army aviation a close second, at $12,610,200,000. Bulk of the latter will go for 41,345 new planes, of nearly all tactical types. Other items—$8,599,067,600 for Miss Helen Garber, of Fairbury, and Richard L. Bennett, of Chatsworth, were married Saturday at the home of the bride. They will make their home at Saunemin, where the groom is employed by the Livingston Service Co.

John W. Bruner, 81, pioneer resident of Broughton township in the Kempton vicinity, died at the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago Saturday morning, June 9th, after an illness of several weeks. Burial was in the Kempton cemetery.

Members of the 1934 graduating class of Saunemin Township High school were Cecil Barnes, Alec Bunch, Ira Combs, Marion Diemer, Martha Marie Eggenberger, Victor L. Ehrhardt, Robert F. Fox, Kenneth E. What's Ahead?: Our fine American boys are fighting and dying all over this world, so that the principles and ideals in which we believe may be carried on to the benefit of ourselves and all civilization. It is, therefore, astounding to read the press release coming out of Detroit on June 6th as follows: "The United Automobile Workers (CIO) has asked the General Motors Corporation to fire war veterans who belonged to the Union before entering service, but failed to maintain their membership after getting their old jobs back on discharge from the armed forces."
